'Bright idea' to improve town's festive shopping experience

WEST Lancs Council has announced that Ormskirk's Christmas lights will shine for longer in the run-up to the big day in a bid to give the town an even more festive feel - and at no extra cost to council taxpayers!

Council chiefs say that they hope to make the retail therapy experience even better by turning on the lights during business hours in response to requests from the community and local businesses.

The lights previously came on at dusk but will now will be on from 7am to 1am and as the bulbs used are low-cost LED ones the council says this will not create any extra cost.

Councillor John Hodson, the authority's portfolio holder for planning, said: "The council was already considering putting the lights on for longer during the day throughout the festive period when similar requests were received from local businesses and people in the community. We are happy to have been able to switch the lights on for longer and make Ormskirk an even more wonderful shopping experience."

COUNCIL PULLS PLUG ON MOTORIST'S CAR CHARGING POINT PLAN

Resident claims bid to create community parking area is being thwarted by 'unreasonable' liability insurance condition

Report by Kenny Parker

A MOTORIST who offered to pay for the construction of a 'mini car park' to enable him to charge his electric car near to his home has accused West Lancs Council of thwarting his efforts by insisting on what he believes is an unreasonable condition.

Currently Giovanni Lupadli has to charge his car at the council offices in Derby Street, Ormskirk - two-and-a-half miles away from his home in Whalley Drive, Aughton.

He had planned to install a charging point at home and charge his car while it was parked on a communal grassy area nearby.

But after being told he couldn't park on the grass, Mr Lupaldi, who has his own water and energy consultancy business, offered to pay for the construction of a six-space car park which he says would benefit both him and his neighbours.

However, while his planning application was finally approved after 18 months of discussions, Italian-born Mr Lupadli says the work can't be started because the council is insisting any contractor employed for the scheme must have £10million liability insurance.

Mr Lupardi believes this is unreasonable for a contract costing in the region of £3,000.

He says he has contacted more than 15 companies about doing the work but each time they have pulled out either because the insurance liability is too high or they can't be bothered with the paperwork for such a small job.

"A company with £10million liability can build structures like a hospital and certainly wouldn't be interested in such a small job as this public parking space.

"I am really frustrated and exhausted by the whole situation now. I think it would be fairer to assess the job for what it is and allow me to use a contractor with £1million liability cover to do the work."

West Lancs Council said Mr Lupaldi's planning application was subject to normal procedures relating to planning and highway requirements.

A spokesperson said: "To assist Mr Lupaldi, the council have produced plans for the parking area, with the final layout being subject to planning approval, of which Mr Lupaldi was always aware of.

The grassed area which Giovanni Lupadli wants to turn into a community parking space.

"Mr Lupaldi has recently been granted planning permission for the project and been issued with a licence agreement to undertake the work. The conditions of the licence agreement require any contractors appointed by Mr Lupaldi to have public liability insurance cover of £10m. This requirement is in line with current council requirements.

"The council acknowledge Mr Lupaldi's frustrations in sourcing a contractor who carries the required liability insurance cover and have recently provided a list of contractors to Mr Lupaldi, who should meet that particular requirement."

Lancashire Care Trust among first to roll out new service aimed at easing A&E pressure

LANCASHIRE Care NHS Foundation Trust is one of the first batch of NHS organisations to deliver a new method of sharing crucial patient information being rolled out across the country that will take the pressure off accident and emergency departments.

The new National Record Locator Service allows a more joined-up health and care system and is being rolled out by NHS Digital. It enables assessors, such as mental health nurses and paramedics who are called to a patient in distress, to find out whether a patient they are treating has a mental health crisis plan.

This in turn enables them to transport that patient to a more appropriate care setting than A&E or offer alternative, community-based care as indicated in their crisis plan, something that would not only improve patient safety and mental health outcomes but also reduce duplicate care costs and help staff safety.

Damian Parkinson, director of Health Informatics at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, said: "This is a great project that we're leading on in the North West and as a trust we're pleased to be one of the first batch of NHS organisations that are implementing the National Record Locator Service.

"This piece of work is about delivering smart healthcare in a way that is joined-up and beneficial to the people we care for by giving them quality care at the right time and place. The service provides front-line staff with information available at a tap of a button and is a lovely example of how technology is helping the NHS evolve into delivering care collaboratively."

Damian Parkinson, director of Health Informatics at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust.

Hadleigh Stollar, Integrating Care Programme Manager at NHS Digital, added: "This is a critical milestone in the journey towards patient-centred, integrated care enabled through a nationally-supported and agnostic capability.

"Fundamental to this success has been the outstanding collaboration between NHS trusts, system suppliers and the dedicated team at NHS Digital and I am personally grateful to everyone who has worked tirelessly to make this a reality".

Integration

In the North West, the service has been launched by North West Ambulance Services in conjunction with Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, Cheshire and Wirral Partnership NHS Foundation Trust and Cumbria Partnership NHS Foundation Trust.

The scope of the National Record Locator Service will evolve over time but demonstrating the capability through this first-use case is an important step in assisting NHS organisations in their plans to move towards better integrated care models.

The next phase of development will continue integration with other local health and care record exemplars before a full roll-out across the NHS. Record retrieval for phase one sites is expected by summer 2019 and future use-cases include end-of-life care, child health, maternity and cancer.

Northern pledge to reinstate West Lancs Line Piccadilly link

Rail campaigner 'cautiously optimistic' vital city service will be brought back

by Danielle Thompson

RAIL campaigners have welcomed a commitment by Northern Rail to fully reinstate the Southport to Manchester Piccadilly service on the West Lancashire Line.

A promise to restore the 'all day-all week' service which was lost earlier this year, was made to Southport and West Lancashire rail campaigners and councillors from across the North West who attended a four-hour stakeholder conference organised by the train operator last Thursday (December 6) in Manchester.

Eric Woodcock, from the Southport Rail Transport Forum, which has campaigned for the service to be brought back, said he was now 'cautiously optimistic' it will be.

Mr Woodcock, who is a passenger representative member of Northern's working group developing plans for services to Manchester, revealed that the aim is to restore the full service on an all-day all-week basis by December 2019 at the latest, using new Flex trains. These are converted from 1980s electric units which are able to run on diesel power on un-electrified lines.

Mr Woodcock told the Champion this week: "David Brown, managing director of Northern, said he is committed to restoring the service, while Craig Harrop, Northern's client and stakeholder manager, said the firm is looking at adding extra off-peak services in May 2019, probably in the evening - and an all-day direct service is in the plan."

Pressure

He added: "Rob Warnes, Northern's performance and planning director, said the aim was to get the full service back by December 2019 using special Flex trains which will be able to run the Southport to Manchester Piccadilly service.

"For the first time Northern are talking publicly about being committed to restoring the full Southport to Piccadilly direct service. The local MPs, particularly Damien Moore (Southport), Rosie Cooper (West Lancs) and Lisa Nandy (Wigan), have kept up the pressure on Northern and Transport for the North.

"Jake Berry, the Northern Powerhouse minister, has declared how important he thinks this link is for the region and last week a letter was sent to Transport for the North, signed by 10 leading local politicians, including Steve Rotheram and Andy Burnham, saying that reinstating the link must be a high priority.

"Even with this degree of support however, we need to ensure this matter stays at the top of the North West rail agenda as we already know what damage the loss of the full direct service is doing to our communities."

A spokesman for Northern told the Champion: "We are absolutely committed to providing the best possible service for our customers, and we fully understand the importance of good links between Southport and Manchester.

"We are aware of the local concerns and strength of feeling regarding this service and have been working closely with stakeholders to develop plans to provide an 'all day' service to Manchester Piccadilly from Southport.

"It is too early, at this stage, to say when these services will come into effect, but we will communicate any changes to our customers as soon as possible."

Early Christmas celebrations for West Lancs Pensioners Forum at O'Briens Tea Rooms.

£500 donation helps pensioners group enjoy early Christmas treat

MEMBERS of the West Lancashire Pensioners Forum enjoyed an early helping of festive spirit when they were treated to a free Christmas lunch at O'Briens Tea Rooms in Park Road, Ormskirk.

A total of 64 members of the group, along with four guests, enjoyed the festive meal as well as entertainment, provided by a singer, a free raffle for a hamper and prize bingo.

The event was part funded by a £500 donation from The Eric Wright Foundation which supports a broad range of charities, primarily in the North West of England, with particular emphasis on services for the elderly.

Forum secretary, Veronica Prescott, said: "We would all like to express our thanks to The Eric Wright Foundation for their support; to O'Briens for being so accommodating and for their delicious food; and to the singer who entertained us all."

The West Lancashire Pensioners Forum meets every third Tuesday in the month - except December - from 1.30pm at St Anne's Pastoral Centre, Prescot Road, Ormskirk and regularly have guest speakers, as well as enjoying social outings.

New members are always welcome for an annual fee of £10. For more information contact Veronica Prescott on 01695 570917 or 07792 090 095.

Police clampdown on pavement parkers

POLICE have clamped down on illegal parking on St Helens Road, Ormskirk by issuing fixed penalties to multiple offenders.

The Champion has received numerous complaints from residents concerned about pedestrian safety due to drivers parking on pavements, particularly in the vicinity of Edge Hill University.

Now local police have used their powers to issue on-the-spot fines to those who flout the traffic regulations.

A post on social media by Ormskirk and Burscough Police on Tuesday, December 4 read: "Have you parked your car on the clearway on St Helens Road tonight? If so, you might find you've got a £30 fine stuck to your windscreen."

Another post two days later read: "After some more pro-active policing in the Ormskirk area last night, another 18 drivers have been caught out by the parking restrictions in place on St Helens Road! £30 fine attached to each vehicle for parking on the clearway!"

Speeding drivers clocked by volunteer road safety group

NEARLY one in ten motorists passing through Ormskirk was caught breaking the law by a volunteer traffic monitoring team working in conjunction with Lancashire Police.

Volunteers working with the Community Road Watch (CRW) scheme were situated on Burscough Street on Wednesday, December 5 between 11.35am and 12.35pm. They found that out of 570 motorists, 50 exceeded the 20mph limit and one was not wearing a seat belt. The fastest speed recorded was 35mph.

Community Road Watch involves police working together with local communities at sites where people are worried about road safety.

Volunteers, trained by Lancashire Police, work with local officers to address drivers exceeding the speed limit, drivers using mobile phones and drivers and passengers not wearing seat belts and/or child restraints.

Teams monitor and record driver behaviour so that action can then be taken. This might include warning letters or police visits to motorists and ultimately, prosecutions.

Council working to re-open village public toilets after vandal attacks

WEST Lancs Council is working to ensure that the public toilets on Church Road in Tarleton can re-open as soon as possible after they were targeted by vandals a number of times.

The latest incident took place overnight on Monday, December 3 when the door of the disabled toilet was kicked in and the lock damaged.

All three toilets, which are managed by the council, are currently closed.

The ladies has been shut after youths tried to set fire to it.

The gents remained open after the washbasin was smashed in but further damage was caused last weekend and this has now also been closed.

The vandalism has been reported to the police and CCTV footage from the council's cameras has been provided to help aid the investigation.

The council understands this is not an isolated matter. There is an ongoing police investigation regarding the damage to the toilets and other anti-social behaviour in the area.

Anyone with information can contact the police on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Peak-time fare rise for disabled travel pass holders

LANCASHIRE County Council is reminding residents who have a disabled person's NoW travel card that the fare to travel at peak times on weekday mornings has risen from 50p to £1.

The mandatory national concessionary travel scheme allows holders of a disabled person's pass to travel for free between 9.30am and 11pm Monday to Friday, and all day at weekends and bank holidays.

However, councils which operate the scheme have discretion to offer further concessions outside these times. This allows holders of a disabled person's pass to travel at a lower flat fare on journeys on local buses, which begin before 9.30am on Mondays to Fridays.

The charge for people who live within the Lancashire County Council boundary increased from 50p to £1 as from Monday, December 3. There had been no increase of the 50p charge for more than 10 years.

Christmas cards for care homes campaign launched

A CAMPAIGN inviting people across the county to send Christmas cards to local care homes has been launched.

The 'Festive Cards for the Holidays' appeal, run by Lancashire County Council, encourages people to send a card to care homes taking part in the scheme, to help brighten up the Christmas season and tackle loneliness and isolation.

As well as being something nice to receive in the post, the Christmas cards aim to help initiate conversations among the residents and bring back happy memories.

Research shows that this has many health benefits, particularly for people who are feeling lonely or isolated, or living with dementia.

County Councillor Joan Burrows, the county's Champion for Older People, said: "Christmas is a happy time for many, but can also be a very lonely time, particularly for people living in care homes.

"National figures from Age UK show that 200,000 older people have not had a conversation with friends or family for a month, and that 60% of people in care homes get no visitors at all.

"Loneliness can have a terrible effect on their mental and physical health, but if you have some spare Christmas cards, stamps and five minutes to spare, you can make a real difference to people's lives.

County Councillor Joan Burrows, with care home resident Josephine Cogley.

"Residents discuss the cards they've received and talk about their memories of Christmas and their families and friends, which helps them build connections between each other and feel less lonely.

"A similar scheme we ran called Postcards for Kindness over the summer was a real success. We hope the Christmas cards campaign will be just as popular and spread some Christmas cheer across our care homes."

County Councillor Shaun Turner, the authority's cabinet member for health and well-being, added: "Loneliness is a major health issue. Research has shown that chronic social isolation can reduce life expectancy by an equivalent amount to smoking. Studies have also found that people who report a high degree of loneliness are twice as likely to develop Alzheimer's disease.

"Encouraging people to remember events, bring back fond memories and spend time with others is vital in tackling loneliness and helping to slow the onset of dementia.

"Sending a Christmas card is something you can do that will only take a moment, but will put a smile on someone's face, tackle loneliness and help everyone get into the festive spirit."

You can find out more about the campaign and which care homes are taking part by visiting https://www.healthierlsc.co.uk/news/latest-news/cards-for-kindness.

Anyone recall the man with the 'flying' machine?

Nostalgia buff seeks help with 50-year mystery

Report by Kenny Parker

LOCAL history enthusiast Michael Dawson is hoping Champion readers can help him to solve a 50-year-old mystery after he was handed some unusual photographs at a recent heritage event.

More than 600 people attended an exhibition of old photos and memorabilia organised by Images of Burscough and Surrounding Areas founder, Michael and featuring various local history groups.

During the event Michael was copying old photos that visitors wanted to share when he was handed a number of photos from Burscough resident and folk singer Paul Mackenzie that confirmed an unusual occurrence that somebody once told him about.

The photos in question were taken by Paul's father in the 1960s and show a strange flying machine pictured at the former HMS Ringtail Royal Naval air station in Burscough.

Michael remembers interviewing a local resident Tony Thompson in 2012 about his time at HMS Ringtail during the Second World War.

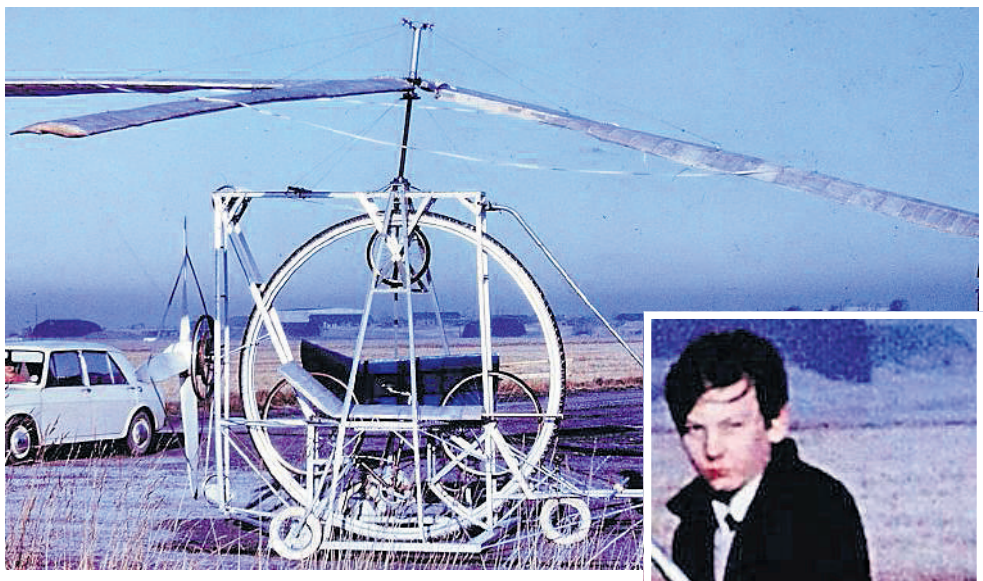
Originally from London, Tony had moved back to Burscough around 1955 and Michael recorded Tony saying: "On visiting the old aerodrome again, there was this fellow on a bicycle with wings attached cycling like mad on the runway trying to take off and he was at it for months.

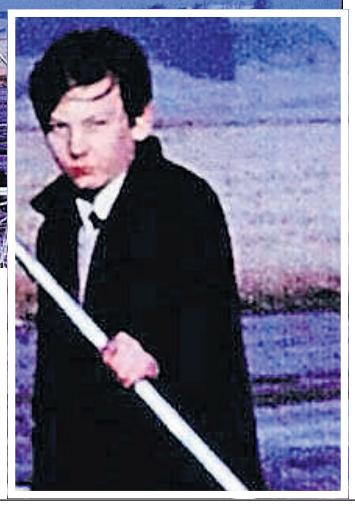
"I used to go up there many a time and watch him, he was there giving it everything with these wings on and with just human power. I don't know what ever happened to him, he suddenly disappeared and I never saw him again."

Now Michael is appealing for more information about the mystery man.

He said: "I would love to know if anybody reading this remembers the young man with his flying machine all those years ago - perhaps he is even reading this article himself!

"If anyone can shed any light on this 50-year mystery then please contact me either by email at wilsonmiley@live.co.uk or by ringing 07795 578 025."





Do these photos spark a memory ?

Reds' oldest fans meet club's newest hero!

TWO of Liverpool FC's oldest supporters met one of the Reds' newest heroes at a dinner for the Liverpool Disabled Supporters Association at the club's Anfield Stadium.

104-year-old Bill Snook and 94-year-old Bill Lomas, residents at the Springfield Court Nursing Home in Aughton, were among guests at the event where they were delighted to meet striker Mo Salah and former favourite Alan Kennedy.

The two Bills were both season ticket holders in younger days and Liz Wynne, activities co-ordinator at Springfield Court, said : "It was a lovely experience for them. Lots of people came over to shake their hands, including Mo Salah and Alan Kennedy."

People's Vote West Lancashire members campaigning in Ormskirk.

People's Vote group target Ormskirk market as part of National Day of Action

MEMBERS of the People's Vote West Lancashire group were out in force in Ormskirk on Saturday (December 8) as part of a National Day of Action involving people across the country.

Local activists chatted to shoppers at Ormskirk market about the campaign to give the public a vote on the final Brexit deal between the UK and the EU with opinions recorded on a 'Brexitometer."

Ken Lamden, team leader for People's Vote West Lancashire, said: "We talked to many people who had braved the weather at the market. Brexit was clearly in the forefront of some people's minds and many were frustrated with MPs for not making a decision.

"A total of 93 people wrote postcards to their MP supporting a People's Vote and 76 of these were for West lancs MP Rosie Cooper.

"Our 'Brexitometer' was also popular showing good support for a People's Vote.

"Nobody knows how the Brexit deal will finally be decided but a People's Vote is one way to break the deadlock. We will continue to press for this option."

Hillsborough commander fails in latest bid to halt manslaughter trial

HILLSBOROUGH match commander David Duckenfield has failed in a further bid to have his prosecution for manslaughter halted.

The former South Yorkshire police chief superintendent was in command of the FA Cup semi-final at Sheffield Wednesday's stadium in 1989 which resulted in the death of 96 Liverpool fans.

The judge who will preside over Duckenfield's trial, Sir Peter Openshaw, rejected his application for a stay of prosecution, following a hearing at Preston Crown Court last week.

Now the trial, on charges of causing death by gross negligence manslaughter of 95 people attending the match between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest, is scheduled to start in Preston on January 14. Duckenfield, 73, has already pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The Crown Prosecution Service has not sought a manslaughter charge in relation to the 96th person who died, Tony Bland.

The then 18-year-old suffered critical brain injuries in the crush on the Leppings Lane terrace and was placed on life support which was turned off four years later following a court application by his family.

According to the law in 1989, a charge of manslaughter cannot be applied in relation to a person who has died longer than a year and a day after the alleged criminal acts occurred.

Former Sheffield Wednesday club secretary Graham Mackrell will stand trial at the same time as Duckenfield for alleged breaches of safety legislation.

Three other men are charged with criminal offences, which are due to be heard in September next year.

Former senior police officers Donald Denton and Alan Foster, and former South Yorkshire Police solicitor, Peter Metcalf, are charged with intent to pervert the course of justice.

New inpatient mental health unit opened

PEOPLE in Lancashire can now access mental health care, support and treatment at a new inpatient unit at Chorley.

Following a major re-development to transform ward areas, the unit at Chorley Hospital, opened by Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, has 30 beds for adults aged 18 and over and six psychiatric intensive care beds for women, providing private bedrooms and bathrooms, therapy spaces and access to garden areas.

The trust also launched its specialist perinatal mental health Mother and Baby Unit (MBU) on the same site last month.

Ribblemere is an eight- bed unit for new mothers experiencing mental illness to be cared for alongside their babies.

Lisa Moorhouse, head of operations for the Mental Health Network at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, said: "We are so excited to have opened this inpatient facility here in Chorley and to be able to offer new and improved mental health services to people living in the area.

Support

"By having an inpatient mental health service in central Lancashire, it means that we can offer local people access to high-quality care and treatment closer to home.

"This is the final phase of a long-term programme of development work to reconfigure our inpatient mental health services so that people can access the support they need when they most need it."

The development has been financed by capital funding from NHS England.

Police launch new campaign targeting serious crime in the run-up to Christmas

Report by Henry James

A NEW campaign targeting four areas of serious crime has been launched by Lancashire Police ahead of Christmas.

Operation Sorbus, led by the force's Tactical Operations (TacOps) team, will focus on tackling cash-in-transit robberies, cash machine thefts, drink and drug drivers and 'Hanoi' burglaries, where expensive or high-powered vehicles are stolen from homes.

The campaign, which continues until the end of December, is aimed at detecting and preventing criminals from committing serious offences within the county.

Supintendent Julian Platt, Lancashire Police's operations manager, said: "These crimes affect businesses, the general public and homeowners. They can have a devastating impact on their victims and leave them extremely vulnerable.

"Ahead of Christmas these types of offences increase and in turn we are increasing our activity to tackle these crimes.

"We want to help deter and detect this criminal activity and bring these offenders to justice."

As part of the operation, officers from Lancashire Police's TacOps team will:

- Carry out daily vehicle stop checks across the county, both in the morning and evening. This includes drink and drug-drive testing, as well as checks on vehicles linked to criminal activity.
- Support the delivery of money to cash machines around the county. With more money in circulation ahead of Christmas, offenders are more likely to target delivery drivers and security vans. Lancashire Police will work with cash firms to prevent any robberies.
- Prevent the theft of ATM machines across the county by visiting businesses and checking CCTV, as well as providing security advice. Vehicles linked to organised crime groups and previous ATM thefts to be intercepted using the auto number plate recognition (ANPR) system.
- Patrol the borders of neighbouring forces to prevent high-powered vehicles stolen from Lancashire addresses travelling into Greater Manchester and Merseyside. Armed response officers and advanced unarmed drivers will be available at strategic locations to stop thieves driving out of the county in stolen cars.

Supintendent Julian Platt, Lancashire Police's operations manager.

Supt. Platt added: "We are determined to prevent and tackle these crimes.

Powers

"Our message to those planning on carrying out these offences - whether it be cash-in-transit robberies, ATM thefts, thefts of vehicles or drink or drug driving- is clear. We will find you and we will make sure, particularly for serious offences, you spend this Christmas and many more to come behind bars away from your family and loved ones.

"We understand some of the stop checks might be an inconvenience but we would urge you to be patient while we conduct our operation.

"We are committed to cracking down on criminals who make the lives of people a misery and we will continue to use all the powers available to us to target these criminals, prevent offences and bring those responsible to justice."

Police are asking the public to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity in the run-up to Christmas by calling Lancashire Police on 101, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111. In an emergency always call 999.

"We are committed to cracking down on criminals who make the lives of people a misery..."

North West Euro MP Nuttall quits UKIP

NORTH West MEP, Paul Nuttall has become the latest high-profile member of the UK Independence Party (UKIP) to quit in protest over the decision to appoint controversial former English Defence League leader Tommy Robinson as an adviser.

The former history lecturer said he was leaving because the party was being taken in a direction that would be "detrimental" to their cause regarding Brexit.

His resignation follows that of fellow former leader of the party, Nigel Farage.

He said; "I will continue to serve the North West of England in the European Parliament until my term expires."

Watchdog commends county's schools

FIGURES from the Ofsted Annual Report for 2017/18 show that the vast majority of Lancashire's children and young people continue to be taught in schools that are either 'good' or 'outstanding'.

The statistics show that 92% of Lancashire primary schools have been judged to be 'good' or 'outstanding', compared to the national average of 87% and the North West average of 90%.

Meanwhile 73% of the county's secondary schools have been judged to be 'good' or 'outstanding' compared to the North West average of 67%.

Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, County Councillor Susie Charles, said: "Educational performance in Lancashire continues to set a high standard in the region, and compares well with the national average.

"I'm really proud of these results. They are a testament to the high quality of the teaching in our schools and the commitment of pupils and their families to learning. And they show that the overall standard of education in Lancashire is up there with the best in the region.

"We certainly won't rest on our laurels though and we'll continue to make sure that we fulfil our aim of all our pupils being able to attend a school which is rated as good or outstanding.

"We remain committed to building even further upon this achievement."

Up-to-the-minute information will be available on local authority's website and Twitter feed

MEMBERS of the public can stay informed about West Lancashire Borough Council services if they are affected by winter weather by visiting the authority's website at www.westlancs.gov.uk/winter or by following the council on Twitter at @WestlancsBC.

Residents and businesses can find out up-to-the-minute information if there are changes to council services - including refuse and recycling collections - due to adverse weather conditions such as heavy rain, high winds or snow.

Signing up to Twitter is free and can be done at www.twitter.com. The 'blue light' emergency services also use Twitter to give out urgent information.

The council is also urging residents to be prepared in the event of any local flooding, and to check if they need to take steps to protect their homes. Flooding can cause catastrophic damage to properties and can force people out of their homes for months.

Councillor Ian Moran.

It is the responsibility of residents to protect the property they live in, whether they own or rent their home. The council's website provides advice on where to get help about flood prevention equipment including sandbags, home insurance and information to help residents decide if they should take steps to protect their property.

There is also information about what to do if flooding occurs at www.westlancs.gov.uk/flooding and the North West Regional Flood and Coastal Committee also provides really useful information on their flood hub, which can be accessed via www.thefloodhub.co.uk.

West Lancs Council leader, Councillor Ian Moran, said: "By keeping an eye on our website and following us on Twitter people will receive important updates about affected borough council Services, as soon as they happen. I would encourage people to go online to find out more about winter services.

"Homes and communities can be devastated by flooding and we urge people to go to the website, look at the flood awareness pages and consider what action they should take. Visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/flooding."

Information on services such as highways, gritting and school closures is provided by .Lancashire County Council. To find out more visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/winter.

PROUD TO BE MAKING A DIFFERENCE

Taxi firm's drivers' goodwill gesture

Blueline Five-0 cabbies agree not to charge usual premium rate for hospital runs during festive period

Report by Kenny Parker

DRIVERS at a West Lancs taxi company have agreed not to charge the customary premium rate when taking passengers to hospital over Christmas and New Year.

Chris Carr, owner of Blueline Five-0 Taxis based on Moorgate, Ormskirk, says that the generous offer was initially suggested by a few of his drivers at a recent team meeting and was 'officially' adopted after it was positively received by other drivers across the company.

As a result, it will mean that journeys to hospitals will be charged at the standard rate rather than the fare-and-a-half rate which other passengers will pay during the same period.

Proud

Chris said: "The drivers suggested it to help people who wish to visit family and friends who are in hospital over the Christmas and New Year period.

"I am long-term ill and now disabled myself and have frequent visits to hospital without much warning, so I can see this from a punter's point of view as well."

And Chris says this isn't the first time that his drivers have made him proud of their compassion.

"Although it's the first offer of suspending the Christmas rate for hospital visitors I have heard of, it's just another thing that has made me proud of the taxi drivers we have employed over the years.

"Back in 1989 Blueline Five-O guys put on a free shuttle service to Anfield following Hillsborough so that people could pay their respects and some of those guys are still with us.

"Also, some of our drivers donated items of food through our offices to the local foodbank after my daughter Jenny requested their help.

"Taxi drivers never cease to amaze me with their community spirit and generosity, not least of all when they make themselves available in the most atrocious of weather conditions including blizzards, not just to earn a living, but also to provide a vital community service."

Sing4fun entertain the crowds at Parbold's Community Christmas Tree lights switch-on.

Community turns out in numbers for 'carols round the tree' event

THE community turned out in force for the annual 'Carol Singing Round The Tree' event outside Parbold Village Hall.

Proceedings started with the switching on of the Christmas tree lights by Our Lady and All Saints RC Primary School pupil, Meadow.

Parbold Parish Council donated the tree this year. As it is an artificial tree it can be used for future events and will be put up in Parbold Library for the rest of the festive period.

Among those taking part in the event were members of the local Sing4fun community choir, along with staff and pupils from both Parbold Douglas Academy and Our Lady and All Saints who both sang two songs.

Meanwhile making their debut appearance were the Christ Church puppets with 'Elvis and the Crackers' dancing to Rocking Around the Christmas Tree.

There was also a Bible reading by Reverend David Bennet, a short address by Reverend Sue Timmins and a Christmas poem by Bev Hayman.

Music for the evening was provided by The Red Admiral Music Academy who also played a winter wonderland musical performance.

Afterwards, there was mince pies and mulled wine in the village hall for the adults and juice and biscuits for the youngsters.

Bev Hayman, who helped to organise the evening, said: "We would like to thank Parbold Parish Council for their donation and also thank everyone for their support. I, and the team who co-ordinated the event, with the help of Parbold Unlimited, wish you all a very merry Christmas and a happy and healthy 2019."

Street light switch-off plan will put residents at risk says councillor

Report by Kenny Parker

LANCASHIRE County Council chiefs have been accused of potentially creating conditions where criminals can act under cover of darkness by agreeing to save money by switching off thousands of residential street lights.

Budget cut proposals designed to save the county £77m over the next four years have been approved by the authority's cabinet.

As well as measures to bring services in-house, make greater use of digital technology and efforts to keep older people out of long-term residential care, it is also proposed to turn off 18,000 out of the county's 100,000 residential street lights between midnight and 5am.

Control units will be installed as lights are replaced by new LED lights.

However the plan, which will be subject to a public consultation, has been slammed by the deputy leader of the Labour group on the county council, County Councillor John Fillis.

Councillor Fillis, who represents the Skelmersdale East ward, said: "This will mean that unspecified residential areas will be completely exposed to criminal activities under the cover of darkness for most of the night - with sheds, garages, cars and unfortunately people's homes being prime targets for the criminals."

County Councillor John Fillis.

And he compared the proposed saving of £37,000 - which he said followed cuts to police and community support officers - with the £38,000 spent on new iPhones for Conservative councillors after other councillors refused to have them.

"It's clear that the Conservatives think more of their mobile phones than they do of the safety of local people.

"All their decisions have been taken in isolation without any thought of the wider implications of their action or the overall impact on the community. This will increase the fear of crime and act as cover for the criminals."

A spokesperson for Lancashire County Council said the proposal will be considered at a full county council budget meeting in February pending a public consultation and further cabinet discussion.

Cabinet member for highways and transport, County Councillor Keith Iddon, said that the previous mobile phones supplied by the council were not fit for purpose and stressed that he pays a contribution towards the use of the phone, while claiming that the council was having to deal with a deficit of £200m left over from the previous Labour administration.

And he added: "I do appreciate Councillor Fillis' comments and I have no intention of turning lights off in heavily residential estates. It will be more on the main roads that run through these areas.

"I would also emphasise we are only going out to consultation. When the officers have identified the roads where lights are going to be switched off, it will go out to consultation and come back to me and if I am not happy with that it won't go ahead."

Loos free to use at Lime Street and Piccadilly from December 17

TOILETS at Liverpool Lime Street and Manchester Piccadilly railway stations will be free to use from Monday, December 17.

Network Rail said scrapping the 30p charge is the first passenger improvement resulting from a £15m benefits package, announced last week by rail minister Andrew Jones.

Martin Frobisher, Network Rail's managing director for the London North Western route, and Rob McIntosh, managing director for the London North Eastern & East Midlands route, said in a joint statement: "We welcome the rail minister's funding package for passengers in the north.

"We will respond to this immediately and one of the first changes will be the removal of toilet charges at Liverpool Lime Street, Manchester Piccadilly and Leeds. This is a long-overdue Christmas present for train passengers in the north."

This had been planned for April 1 2019 but it is being brought forward.

MP seeks reassurances about Diabetic Eye Screening Programme

ROSIE Cooper has sought assurances from health chiefs about the future of the Diabetic Eye Screening Programme (DESP) at Ormskirk Hospital.

The West Lancs MP says she has been contacted by a number of constituents who were concerned after seeing a sign on the hospital building saying no screenings are being carried out there at present.

Ms Cooper then contacted Virgin Care, Southport & Ormskirk Hospital Trust, West Lancashire CCG and NHS England on their behalf.

NHS England responded stating that 'there has been some IT problems with the new location' and that 'the DESP is working to resolve the IT issues and aims to resume clinics at Ormskirk by the end of December 2018.'

The MP said: "Residents are contacting me worried and seemingly uninformed of what is going on, they just turn up at the hospital and see a sign on the door telling them to go to Aintree or Southport.

Journey

"I understand from the correspondence that there are IT issues to overcome, but of greater concern to me is that patients who are due their screening are struggling to get to appointments as due to the eye drops used they shouldn't drive to the hospital.

"This leaves some residents facing an arduous and costly journey from across West Lancashire to get to Aintree University Hospital in Fazakerley.

"NHS England have now assured me that patients who are due their annual screening appointment will be provided with information about the temporary arrangements and the support to be offered to those who have problems with travelling to and from the clinics.

"Patients who may require support from patient transport will also be provided with contact details for the North West Ambulance Service."

Fracking firm applies for delay to drilling deadline

Action group seeks clarity from Aurora on Altcar Moss plans

Report by Kenny Parker

Members of fracking opposition group Moss Alliance on site at Altcar Moss.

A LEADING member of an anti-fracking group says that Aurora Energy Resources has applied for permission to delay submitting its application to frack at Altcar Moss - but that it has taken a Freedom of Infromation Request (FOI) to find out why.

The managing director of Aurora has been unavailable for comment and so has not yet responded to the claim but John Wilkinson of Moss Alliance, has questioned how open and transparent the company is after he declined to answer questions about the matter at a public meeting in November.

Moss Alliance is formed by a number of local groups opposed to fracking at Altcar Moss.

Conditions attached to the Petroleum Exploration and Development Licence (PEDL) granted to Aurora in 2014 by the Oil and Gas Authority (OGA), meant that it was supposed to have submitted a planning application by September 2018 after conducting its initial seismic surveys. A scoping request has already been submitted to and processed by Lancashire County Council.

In a letter to Aurora managing director, Ian Roche, Mr Wilkinson wrote: "It's taken a recent Freedom of Information Request to discover that you asked the OGA on September 10 for a 12-month extension to the PEDL workload deadline for submitting a planning application i.e.until September 30 2019.

"Yet you chose not to divulge this information at the public exhibition on the November 4, despite being asked about your intentions in this regard by several attendees at the event.

"At the event itself you intimated to me and others that it was 'now likely to be delayed until early in the new year'.

"In the circumstances I feel compelled to ask you whether your actions comply with UKOOG's pledge of openness, honesty, and transparency in relation to community engagement? (UKOOG is the representative body for onshore oil and gas industry.)

"It is apparent also that if the application is delayed until the end of September 2019 it is unlikely to be determined until the end of January 2020. Even assuming it is approved (a distinctly uncertain prospect) and allowing time to obtain tenders and let contracts, it is clearly impossible to complete the necessary minimum eight months of work envisaged in phases 1-2 of your development programme by the end of the second term of the licence on September 30, 2020.

"I appreciate of course that you may be intending to seek an extension to this (drill or drop) licence deadline, a prospect the OGA has so far resisted. Or you may be hoping that the Government's plans to make shale gas exploration permitted development may be approved in due course - although their priorities seem likely to be elsewhere for some time.

"In any event these latter proposals would not permit the hydraulic fracture stimulation you envisaged in your scoping request. In the circumstances I feel justified in asking you to clarify your intentions in relation to the timing of the submission of your planning application. This request is for 'relevant information' you have publicly promised to provide in relation to your project."

Merchant Taylors' Schools enjoy recognising the achievements of its talented and happy community and in the last few weeks did just that. Speech Day ceremonies took place at Liverpool's Royal Philharmonic Hall where both schools celebrated their pupils' successes in academic subjects and extra-curricular activities.

Old Girl and Optical Engineer for NASA, Lauren McNally, was the keynote speaker for the Senior Girls' School. Lauren talked about considering a move in to other careers before accepting a role in engineering that would eventually lead her to a job at NASA, where she is developing Deep Space Optical Communications for a Mars Helicopter, launching in 2020. She advised: "Seize every opportunity available to you as you never know where these opportunities might lead. No matter how scary, tiring or difficult something might be, keep trying and you'll do just fine."

At the Senior Boys' School event, Old Boy Mark Brereton reflected on leaving a student pilot training programme with the RAF before training as an Accountant with Pirelli Tyres. He moved his way up to Director of Accounting, a role that took him to America where he has lived for 20 years. Mark had a passion for racing motorcycles but in 2007 he crashed and broke his spine, rendering him a paraplegic. Mark focused on prospering and now scuba dives, sky dives and takes recently paralysed young people flying in helicopters. He told the boys: "It is never too early to start taking note of your dreams and working out how to turn them into reality. Make plans, see them through, but also know that life can make a mockery of your plans in an instant."

The ceremonies saw the Head Teachers, Head Girl Team, Head Boy Team and a number of Year 7 pupils talk about their own experiences, while audiences enjoyed musical and theatrical performances.

Claire Tao, Headmistress at the Senior Girls' School said: "The stories we shared and the successes we celebrated together show what a warm, talented and nurturing family we have at our school."

David Wickes, Headmaster at the Senior Boys' School added: "Events like these are perfect for celebrating what we are all about – hard work, happy pupils and seizing opportunities."

Forward-thinking plan will bring jobs and investment to borough and address affordable housing need

THERE are some ridiculous arguments in relation to the preferred options for the New Local Plan.

Let's just get a few things straight. It is this Conservative Government who have imposed the requirement for a five-year review of a Local Plan, (due 2018), long-term strategic planning AND the duty to co-operate with neighbouring boroughs.

So what have we done in West Lancashire? We have taken the bull by the horns and through extensive research, have formulated this innovative, creative, forward-thinking plan which will bring investment and jobs to the borough and at the same time will address the need for affordable housing for our young people and also the older generations wishing to downsize, whilst also embracing the Garden Village concept

Garden villages are sensitively designed to incorporate the countryside, creating biodiversity and wildlife and putting health and wellbeing at the heart of planning new communities.

The programme will enable the development of neighbourhoods and communities that support healthier living and lifestyle, as well as creating environments in which older and vulnerable people can remain independent for longer.

Some would suggest that we just carry on with the same old piecemeal, bolt-on, soulless developments that clog up the roads, create rat runs in the villages and add nothing to the local communities that people have moaned and complained about for years.

A 30-year plan sends a clear message to central government that our council is taking a serious, long-term overview of our development needs and puts us in much better positioning for bigger infrastructure funding so new developments have as little impact on existing communities as possible.

Many areas will see infrastructure improvements. This gives us the chance to masterplan for schools, GP surgeries, rail links, shops, public transport and road systems.

Whether three 10-year plans, two 15-year plans or one 30-year plan, the needs are the same for the development of the borough.

The new 30-year Local Plan, whilst demonstrating these development needs, will only release 1.7% of our Green Belt, which would have had to be released anyway, as we have the highest percentage of Green Belt of any borough in the country. After 2050 we will still have retained 88.7% of our Green Belt. The best way to protect the Green Belt is to plan ahead strategically.

We are listening, that is why we have extended the consultation period for the preferred options to the maximum within the timeframe, (from six weeks to 10 weeks) to give the chance for everyone to have their input. Please have your input here: Localplan@westlancs.gov.uk.

What would the opposition do? I'll tell you, no alternative plan, so more piecemeal developments not fit for purpose, just more of the same old same old.

Councillor Gail Hodson.

Where will all the surplus water go when new estates are built?

AFTER a day of rain today (December 4) - not overly-heavy but lasting all day - driving past the roundabout at the bottom of Beacon Lane, Skelmersdale I had to slow right down as there was a torrent of water collected at the bottom of the hill.

Up until a year or so there were fields which would have normally soaked up any excessive rain fall.

The water was running down into Dalton Park too.

Where is all this surplus water going to go when the proposed further housing estates are built in the near future?

I believe that North West Water raised these concerns in the planning stages but the greedy planners gave permission any way.

I am not a NIMBY, as people may think, as I have no objection to building on brownfield sites, like the ones where the college was behind Ashust shops.

But when are we going to learn and actually put the environment at the top of our concerns, where it really needs to be, before we don't have anything left to leave our kids?

Building on green fields and actual Green Belt land really does need to stop. Once these beautiful spaces have been built upon that's it, there is no going back.

We are going to have flooding on a regular basis. But do the building companies care? Do they heck! They are long gone once these problems arise.

Used stamps from your cards and parcels could help RNIB

THE festive season is all about generosity and goodwill, but with a shopping list as long as your arm it can be hard to find the spare cash to support a good cause.

But this Christmas, there's a way of supporting the Royal National Institute of Blind People (RNIB) that won't cost you a penny.

All you need to do is collect used stamps from your cards and parcels and get your friends and family to do the same.

Your old stamps will be recycled and turned into much-needed funds to help the charity continue its great work breaking down the barriers facing people with sight loss across the UK.

Isolation, inequality and unemployment are still a fact of life for too many blind and partially sighted people and it's just not right.

Simply visit www.rnib.org.uk/stamps or call 0345 345 0054 to request your pre-paid envelopes, and then send your stamps to RNIB in the post - it really is that easy!

Today, 250 people will begin to lose their sight.

I can only imagine how scary that must be, but thankfully RNIB is there, providing a listening ear as well as practical and emotional support.

Please show your support for RNIB this Christmas and get collecting those stamps!

Jenny Éclair, comedian, actress and RNIB supporter.

Stick to dogs and canals, Jim!

I AM a long time fan of Jim Sharpe, enjoying his recollections of the Norfolk Broads, as I do, and love of dogs, as I do.

But his column of November 21, where he describes Prime Minister Theresa May as a lame duck and Boris Johnson as a clown, is a step too far for a provincial reporter, although I do accept freedom of speech.

Admittedly this column was written before our PM returned from Brussels with the best deal we could expect.

Please Jim, stick to what you write best about . . . dogs, canals and local issues. Leave national issues to those that show leadership and determination, aka Theresa May and her party.

Disappointed by unruly behaviour around village Christmas tree

AS a very recent incomer to the village of Tarleton, I was very disappointed to see the unruly antisocial behaviour taking place in the square with the Christmas tree in.

Items were thrown across the square within inches of the vehicles parked there; several youths were seen racing around the square on unlit bicycles nearly knocking us off our feet and then coming within a second of hitting a car as the driver left the square.

Are there any police or neighbourhood watch patrols in the village?

New resident, Tarleton.

PICTURE of the week

It was smiles all round as Maghull's St Andrew's C of E School's first-ever sponsored Santa Dash got underway. Proceeds from the event, part of a week of Christmas Fair activities, will go towards funding a four-day residential adventure trip for Year 6 pupils.

Care trust recruits apprentice number 100

LANCASHIRE Care NHS Foundation Trust has successfully recruited it's 100th apprentice as part of its commitment to providing alternative opportunities to college and university to help people develop in to long-term successful careers.

Undertaking an apprenticeship at the trust provides people with the chance to do what they believe in, whilst making a difference to the lives of the people of Lancashire and beyond.

Amy Bell, a pharmacy apprentice with the trust, says: "Choosing an apprenticeship has allowed me to develop new skills and experience in the field of work that I want my career to progress in. At school I didn't know what I wanted to do or what I wanted to be, I studied at college and went on to university, as that was the direction I was guided towards.

"However even after completing my degree, I still felt slightly lost and confused. I had come across the idea of working in pharmacy, however I didn't know how to acquire skills or gain experience in that area.

"This apprenticeship has allowed me to gain the experience and the skills that I need to further myself in the field of work that I want to work in, all whilst working on the job."

And business administration apprentice, Sohaib Naseem, commented: "I chose an apprenticeship at Lancashire Care as I wanted to gain experience of working in the NHS and a customer-facing role as this will help me in my future career. I decided that I wanted to learn more about business and chose to do this through a business admin apprenticeship so that I could gain a recognised qualification while undertaking full-time employment.

"I really enjoy working for the trust and feel well supported by my manager who helps me to prioritise my workload and is always there to answer my questions and provide advice to me whenever I need help."

Tales of village blacksmith's First World War service raise £1,500 for Poppy Appeal

Report by Kenny Parker

A LOCAL amateur dramatics enthusiast has raised £1,500 for the Royal British Legion's Poppy Appeal with a series of illustrated talks about a blacksmith from West Lancashire who died in the First World War.

John Westhead, the village smithy at Newburgh, signed up at the outset of the war at the age of 42 and was based at the Lathom Remount Depot when blacksmiths and farriers were in great demand to shoe horses bound for the front.

He was later posted to France and was killed in October 1916.

Martin Jones, treasurer of the Ormskirk Pleasure Folk, came across original documents relating to John Westhead and his family while acting as executor for the estate of his grandson, also called John Westhead, in the 1960s.

And it was these documents - which Martin plans to donate to a museum - which provided the source material for a talk which he first gave at Lathom Park Chapel some two years ago entitled The Man Who Shod War Horses.

The talk proved so successful that Martin has since been invited to give similar presentations to numerous other groups across the borough and as far afield as Cheshire.

It was also a feature of a fundraising event to commemorate the centenary of the end of the First World War at Ormskirk Civic Hall, along with songs from the era performed by the Pleasure Folk.

Tickets for the event sold out and the proceeds, along with contributions made at the various groups Martin has visited, made up the final £1,500 total.

Martin Jones hands over the cheque for £1,500 to Bernie McInerney representing the Poppy Appeal Fund.

County council accused of 'adding to budget meeting chaos' over plans to introduce on-street parking charges

Report by Henry James

THE Labour group on Lancashire County Council have accused the authority's Conservative leadership of "adding to the chaos" surrounding the recent budget meeting by claiming that proposals to introduce on-street parking charges - including in Ormskirk - would be part of a public consultation.

However, a press release issued by Labour points out that the minutes of the published cabinet meeting reinforce the fact that on-street parking charges would remain in the proposals NOT to be consulted on and as such work would begin on the implementation of these proposals.

The proposed charges would initially affect Ormskirk, along with Burnley, Lytham, Clitheroe, Whalley, Carnforth, Colne, Padiham, Nelson, Chorley, Cleveleys, Poulton and Great Harwood, while Lancaster and Preston would also see an increase in the number of on-street pay and display machines.

Labour group leader, County Councillor Azhar Ali, said: "This Conservative administration is in a right mess, the wheels have fallen off their budget wagon. Even the Conservative leader and his cabinet do not know what they have agreed to when it comes to budget decisions. It's clear by the minutes of the meeting that they will not be consulting with the public on the introduction of on-street parking charges.

"Highways legislation will force them to consult on the individual schemes where they intend to pick off one town at a time to cover the budget deficit. It's bad enough imposing these charges, it is even worse to attempt to mislead the public on the implementation.

"These Tory taxes on our towns will only add to the burden of our high street shops which are working very hard to keep their heads above water. We will be demanding that this goes out to full public consultation."

The leader of the county council, Councillor Geoff Driver responded: "As usual, it is County Councillor Ali who isn't aware of what is happening. The report to cabinet which was approved at the meeting on December 3 could not be clearer. LCC will consult on proposals for charging for on-street parking at specific locations before any decisions are taken."

Sara swaps education for nutrition to land dream job

A DEDICATED student who has undergone a complete career change, swapping education for nutrition, has already managed to secure her dream job after graduating from Edge Hill University.

Sara Norburn completed an undergraduate degree in Early Years Education at Edge Hill in 2010, and enjoyed her university experience so much, she returned to complete a Masters in Public Health Nutrition.

After a few years working in education, the 28-year-old from Ormskirk started teaching fitness classes in her spare time to help people who felt uncomfortable to go to the gym to get fit and feel healthier.

"I loved doing this and decided I needed to have a career change to help as many people as possible lead healthier, happier lives, so I decided to return to Edge Hill to learn more about nutrition," said Sara.

Sara Norburn

"I really enjoyed the course. It was a great balance of learning about nutrition for individuals and the effects of certain foods, to practical sessions in the lab - which was a bit nerve-racking at first as the last time I'd been in a lab was in secondary school. We also learnt about international food insecurity issues as well as local malnutrition and food bank usage."

Sara works at an occupational health and wellbeing company in Warrington, where she puts all the skills she learned on her course into practice on a daily basis.

"We are a team of life coaches that work behind the scenes on a website and app full of health and fitness information, providing a service which allows individuals to get personalised health and wellbeing advice from ourselves, as well as accessing a range of fitness videos, cookery videos and podcasts."

"Each coach has a different specialism, including fitness, psychology and health, and mine is nutrition, I'm the food coach.

"The idea behind it is that employers can purchase a service for their employees to keep everyone healthy and happy."

So-called 'celebs' on TV quiz shows are a turn-off for me

TWO of the programmes I make an effort not to miss on TV are Formula 1 motor racing and Master Chef (both amateur and professional).

Now not for one minute do I think I could ever have been a Mike Hawthorn (back in my day), nor any kind of master chef - not even given Lewis Hamilton's Mercedes or the kind of kitchen enjoyed by competitors in these very different activities. No, what I gain in ambition, I certainly lose in skill in either.

But, though I can happily watch Hamilton win again and again in what is probably the best car currently on the F1 circuit, the cookery programmes affect me differently.

And while Lewis's Mercedes is somewhat out of my spending power, I could, if I so wished, buy myself a perfectly reasonable second-hand BMW, Jag or even Mercedes saloon and drive it with reasonable brio without difficulty. But the same doesn't apply when it comes to restaurant standard cooking.

Sure, a posh and spacious kitchen would help, but though I count myself a pretty good cook, I'd challenge any of the Master Chef contestants to reproduce their winning dishes on the average, or even far better than average, budget.

Have you seen the ingredients they pick up with gay abandon in the TV studio kitchen? Not just the meat (best cuts of beef, lamb, and various exotica) but the vast variety of veg, condiments and various liquids, spices and different types of butter - you name it, they use it.

Going back to my recent piece about the difficulty we folk who live alone experience when it comes to food buying in small quantities, can you imagine the number of open packs and containers that would be lying waste around the larder? And the quantities of meat that get 'trimmed off' for just one dish would provide the likes of me with a full meal in themselves.

Anyway, back to the real world again (and why do chefs and commentators refer to 'sauces' when they mean old-fashioned gravy?) one thing I find irritating in cookery programmes is the constant harping on about the 'presentation' of the food.

I'm not suggesting food should simply be tipped onto the plate any old how - though even then if it tasted good I'd gladly eat it - but do 'ordinary' people really want their cauliflower topped with ground walnuts, or foam which looks like watery shaving soap? Is it really necessary for our gastronomic delight to have our pud topped with a card-castle of wafers which has to be cleared off before the dish itself can be consumed?

Returning to TV, am I the only one who is annoyed by the modern idea of turning out quiz or skill programmes, designed for humans of various skill and intelligence levels, in 'celeb' versions? OK, the cash prizes are donated to charities, but nothing stops the production companies from making donations anyway, surely.

What this means all too often is a group of C and D list celebs making asses of themselves. Comedians are the worst. You are stuck with a stand-up comic well past his or her sell-by date or just never funny enough ever to have had one.

And there is always, of course, the sneaking suspicion that the salespeople in the antiques programme or the questioners in quizzes are influenced by the attention of TV cameras and the celeb and offer deals far lower than they ever would to you and me or ask questions specially dumbed down in order, hopefully to raise more for the charity and avoid the celebs' blushes.

I know some folk enjoy seeing celebs 'in the flesh' as it were, but I'm afraid I just find it annoyingly stage-managed and not as enjoyable as watching 'real'people - who could have been me!

Welcome boost for RSPCA centre

BUSINESS leaders joined forces to raise funds to help protect neglected and abused animals.

The Southport, Ormskirk and District RSPCA Centre, based in New Cut Lane, Birkdale, has received a welcome £445 boost for its vital work from the Southport Business Leaders Network.

The money was raised from ticket sales and a raffle and auction at one of the network's monthly meetings, hosted by solicitors, Birchall Blackburn Law.

Jude Storer from the centre said: "With Christmas and winter approaching it's our busiest time and donations like this are vital. The money will go towards food and the care of our animals.

"We deal with more than 350 animals a year and it costs £365,000 a year to run the centre. Without local businesses' help the animals would have nowhere else to go. We rely upon donations, revenue from our charity shop, the public's generous support and local fundraising events."

Information evening for potential foster carers

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE County Council is holding another of its information evenings for people thinking about becoming a foster carer.

The event will be held on Wednesday, December 19 at County Hall, Fishergate Hill, Preston, from 6 to 7.30pm.

Members of Lancashire County Council's fostering team, as well as social workers and current foster carers, will be available to answer questions, talk people through the process, and offer advice.

The county council has recently increased the allowances payable to new foster carers, so now they can expect to receive between £241 and £300 per week for each child they care for.

People who have considered fostering before, but weren't sure they could afford it, are advised to go along to the information evening to find out if it could now be a viable option.

County Councillor Susie Charles, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "With around 20 Lancashire children needing homes each week, we need to recruit new foster carers.

County Councillor Susie Charles.

"We have increased our allowances to foster carers in recognition of their valuable role in providing loving homes for the children in our care. There is also a rising demand for placements with more children and young people coming into the care of the local authority each week.

"We are looking for people who can foster all ages of children, particularly siblings who need to stay together, and teenagers. No formal experience or qualifications are needed, all we ask is that you have a spare room available and a desire to make a difference to a local child's life."

A package of support is available 24/7 to help foster carers in their role, including local support groups, their own social worker, a dedicated helpline and flexible training.

If you're unable to attend on the night you can call the fostering recruitment team on 0300 123 6723 or visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/fostering.

There is no need to book for the fostering information evening, you can just turn up, but anyone planning to go is asked to arrive early.

Free parking is available on the Arthur Street car park, next to County Hall, and the Pitt Street entrance is accessible for disabled people.

Call for knitters to support Age UK campaign

KEEN knitters are being urged to get clicking again to help an older people's charity.

Age UK has once again teamed up with drinks manufacturer, Innocent, to host their 15th Big Knit challenge, making small hats to adorn the company's smoothie bottles.

For each be-hatted smoothie sold, Innocent will donate 25p to help Age UK fund national and local projects to keep older people warm and well in winter.

Teri Stephenson, chief officer of Age UK Lancashire, said: "We need the people of Lancashire to help knit as many miniature hats as possible this winter to help us hit our 5,000 target..

"The money raised will make a big difference to the lives of older people by funding our hugely important services including offering information and advice to help older people access financial support and provide opportunities to socialise and keep active."

For more information contact Age UK Lancashire on 0300 303 1234 or visit www.ageuklancs.org.uk

Completed hats can be sent to Age UK Lancashire at Suite 22, Railway House, Railway Road, Chorley, PR6 0HW, or your nearest Age UK Lancashire shop, office or centre.

School nativities are in full swing... but danger could be in the manger!

SCHOOLS across the borough are busy preparing for their nativity plays with rehearsals in full swing ready for the big opening night (or afternoon) production.

It's the time of year when every parent enjoys watching their little darlings perform in the school nativity play but in recent years it has become something of a legal minefield.

It used to be that the show was documented by hundreds of proud parents snapping away on their cameras, but more recently school politics and privacy issues have come into play, with some schools ruling that it is unacceptable to take pictures or videos of the show.

But what is the legal position when it comes to videos and photographs of school events?

Are schools able to impose a blanket ban? If you ignore the school's photography policy, what legal action can they take against you? And if another parent shares a group shot featuring your child, without permission, can you force them to take it down?

Anthony Di Palma, solicitor at DAS Law in Manhester, looks at the photographic minefield that is the school nativity play and offers some general guidance on commonly asked questions.

My child's school has a photography policy which states that there is a blanket ban on taking photos at the nativity play. Is this legal?

Any owner of private property may restrict the use of photography or video equipment on the premises. If ignored, you may be asked to leave and may be deemed to be trespassing if you refuse.

I signed my child's schools consent form stating I won't take any photos. What legal ramifications will I face should I choose to ignore the policy?

The consent form is unlikely to be legally enforceable as a contract if there is no financial loss to the school, and there are no laws generally against taking photographs of your own or other people's children as long as the photographs are not deemed 'indecent', or are likely to have the effect of harming or harassing the children.

Are there any laws against sharing group shots of my child's nativity play photos online?

As best practice, it is advisable that parents should avoid sharing photographs of children without obtaining prior consent of that child's parent or guardian. However, as long as the photographs are not deemed 'indecent', or are likely to have the effect of harming or harassing them, then there is nothing legally stopping you from doing so.

What legal action can I take against people that share group photos of the school nativity play on social media that include my child without my permission?

You can ask the person to remove the photograph, however if they refuse there is no realistic legal action you can take. Privacy laws under the Human Rights Act cannot be enforced against other private individuals and unless you own the copyright in the photograph, or the image is offensive or indecent, then the social media site has no obligation to remove that photo if it is reported to them.

If I blur out other children's faces can I share school play photos online?

You don't have to blur out children's faces in order to share them online, as the Data Protection Act doesn't apply to photographs taken for private use and which do not identify the child (i.e. name them). However, if you would be concerned about images of your own child appearing without your permission, blurring out other children's faces may be a sensible step to take.

Society presenting evening of Festive Light Music

THE orchestra and choir of Ormskirk Music Society present an evening of Festive Light Music and Carols on Saturday, December 22 at 7.30pm at Ormskirk School.

Carols will abound, with a number of beautiful choral arrangements sung by the choir, and plenty of audience carols, backed by a full orchestra.

The programme also includes a festive selection of Light orchestral music. The form was especially popular during the formative years of radio broadcasting, with stations such as the BBC Light Programme featuring a playlist largely consisting of light compositions.

Leroy Anderson, described as "one of the great American masters of light orchestral music" provides the centre-piece: his orchestrated Christmas Festival medley of popular Christmas Carols, with choir, joined by the effervescent Belle of the Ball and audience favourite: Sleigh Ride.

The orchestra will also play André Messager's sparkling Ballet Suite: The Two Pigeons, and several other fun, short pieces, familiar to radio listeners.

Tickets are available online from TicketSource.co.uk, in advance from Catherine Ness (01695 556548 or catherine.oms@btinternet.com) or on the door priced at £10, £5 for under-18s and students. For more information, visit ormskirkmusicsociety.org.uk or Facebook facebook.com/OrmskirkMusicSociety.

Head judge in pantomime

BBC'S Strictly Come Dancing's Shirley Ballas head judge is getting ready to lead the cast of this year's pantomime, Jack and the Beanstalk, at the Liverpool Empire.

She will be joined by funny man John Evans as Simple Simon in the show from this Friday (December 14).

Having danced since the age of seven, Shirley has taken the dancing world by storm. She is three time 'British Open to the World' Latin American Champion, ten-time US Latin American Champion, and multiple-times British National Champion.

By 21, Shirley had won nearly every major title she competed in worldwide. She is the only person to have ever won the British Open to the World Latin American Championships in Blackpool with two different partners and reached the finals an impressive 17 times.

Shirley still remains the youngest ever female to reach the British Open to the World Dance Championship finals.

Since hanging up her competition heels 20 years ago, Shirley has gone on to forge a hugely successful career as one of the top Ballroom and Latin teachers and adjudicators in the world.

She appeared on the hit series Dancing With The Stars (the US version of Strictly), where she gave masterclasses and commentary on the shows.

Shirley has been a huge hit on Strictly Come Dancing.

The Wallasey-born 'Queen of Latin' will star as Mother Nature, and help Jack outwit the evil Giant and win fame, fortune and the hand of the girl he loves.

Joining her as Simple Simon will be John Evans, back for a second year after wowing audiences with his comedy in last year's pantomime, Cinderella. John's clever comedy has taken him across the world, entertaining the British Forces on a number of occasions, as well as becoming a firm favourite with the world's major cruise lines.

Family show at Atkinson

DEAR Santa, the festive family show brings to life the book from the author of the well-loved children's book Dear Zoo, Rod Campbell.

It comes to The Atkinson from today (Wednesday, December 12) until Saturday, December 19.

Santa is determined to deliver the most fantastic Christmas present to the little hero Sarah. But he doesn't get it right straight away! With the help of his cheeky Elf, he finally settles on something 'perfect', just in time for Christmas Eve.

The Manchester show was a great place to see classic cars like the Jaguar E-type

It's the most wonderful time of the year - for wandering, looking at old cars of course!

IT'S the most wonderful time of the year. For wandering around exhibition halls looking at old cars, that is, because it's too cold and miserable to be doing it outdoors.

The big one for anyone into Jaguar E-types, Triumph Stags and the like is the three-day show down at the NEC in Birmingham, but I've long advocated doing your homework, booking a budget flight and checking out the foreign ones, because there's so many of them.

A couple of years ago I had a great weekend wandering around Barcelona's big classic show – and a bit of sightseeing, of course – because it was cheaper to hop on a big silver bird at John Lennon than it was to spend a weekend going to many of Britain's bigger car shows. Paris' Retromobile and the big German shows are just around the corner. Top tip if you're looking for a Christmas present with a difference!

But I'm saddened this week that the North West's entry in this big round-up of indoor shows is no more. Over the weekend the organisers of the Manchester Classic Car Show, held every September at Event City by the Trafford Centre, said it won't be returning in 2019 due to rising costs. Or in "the foreseeable future" either, according to the organiser's official statement. Which is a shame, because it was a proper, petrol-head day out that dialled down the hog roasts and live bands because it knew everyone wanted to look at Triumph Dolomites instead.

The frustrating thing was that, confronted with rising costs at Event City, the organisers had nowhere else to turn to, because no other venue in the North West can stage a big, indoor car show (neither Manchester Central nor the Echo Arena in Liverpool have that sort of floorspace, since you're asking). Over in Germany virtually every city has a Messe – a trade fair, or in other words a massive indoor venue geared up to holding Crufts-sized mega-shows, so there are loads of options if you want to put on a car show.

But in the UK you've got the NEC, ExCeL down in London's Docklands, Event City – and that's about it. Even rosy old Earl's Court, which I loved going to as a kid, is under some swish new housing now.

Which is frustrating, because I know from the sheer volume of cars that turn up to the North West's many outdoor shows that there's an appetite for at least one decent indoor one, which we can all enjoy when it's tipping it down with rain.

Maybe it's time for a new venue altogether. Anyone got a disused aircraft hanger or an unfeasibly large warehouse going spare?

Match ended early by deluge after promising first half effort

Colne 0
Skelmersdale United 0
(Match abandoned after 45 mins)

IT was all going to plan for Paul McNally's Skelmersdale United side when they visited promotion chasing Colne on Saturday.

They were matching the east Lancashire outfit and thoroughly deserved to be on level terms 0-0 when the teams went in for half-time but then the British weather had its say on everyone's entertainment by producing a deluge that forced a pitch inspection by the referee and both managers. Before the second-half could commence, the match was abandoned, reportedly because the ball would no longer roll properly.

Paul McNally had introduced two new players, both had been with him previously at Litherland Remyca, striker Joel Douglas and hugely experienced midfielder Marvin Molyneux and both were in the starting line-up. Paul also retained youngster Liam Boden in goal after his impressive performance on his debut last week.

Colne had former Skelmersdale championship-winning striker Josh Hine making his debut for them.

Skelmersdale had loud appeals for a penalty that were turned away in the early stages, then Davy Moore put a free-kick over the home crossbar.

Left-winger Brad Lynch was the danger man for Colne making a number of weaving runs at the Skem defence but he was kept at bay.

It had not been the most action packed half of football you will see and it looked good for Skem as they went into the dressing-rooms, then the heavens opened.

Skelmersdale will probably be disappointed with the curtailment of the game, they were looking to have strong case to bring at least a point home with them. Paul McNally's changes are working well.

Crunch time for Skem as ex-Linnets man Molyneux joins

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

IT is early to say that a game is a crunch fixture but Skelmersdale United's home game against Kendal Town is certainly an important one. Skelmersdale United are in bottom place in the Evo-Stik Division One West and Kendal are one place above them in the league table, so the bare facts are simple enough.

Skem are on eight points, Kendal are on 11 points. Skelmersdale haven't won at home all season but Kendal have picked seven of their points on the road, so it would appear on paper a close call.

It will be the second time the two teams have met this season, the previous one up at Parkside in August finished in a closely fought 1-0 victory for Kendal their only home win of the season.

There is one thing in Skelmersdale's favour though; they are in form compared to their visitors. In the last two games new Skem manager Paul McNally has introduced a few new signings that have made a difference and the last two games have seen improved performances. A week last Saturday a 2-2 draw at home to Kidsgrove Athletic that could easily have been won and a very commendable 0-0 draw at Colne last week, although the Colne game was abandoned at half-time. Kendal got beaten 5-1 at home to Widnes on Saturday.

One of the new signings Paul McNally has made is a player who is very well known around West Lancashire and is something of a legend with the supporters of Skem's rivals Burscough.

Midfielder Marvin Molyneux made his Skem debut at Colne and put in an excellent showin. The creative midfielder was a member of Burscough's FA Trophy-winning team at Villa Park in 2003. In fact, he is the second member of the 2003 Linnets heroes to play for Skem this season, as Michael White started the season at Skem.

Skelmersdale don't have a midweek game this week or next week and will travel to Leek Town for their next away fixture on Saturday, December 22.

In contrast Burscough have a busy couple of weeks. Last night (Tuesday) they will have played away at Ashton Athletic then they have a pair of home games.

This Saturday sees struggling Abbey Hey come to Victoria Park, followed on Tuesday, December 18 when Runcorn Town will be the visitors, kick off 7.45pm.

On Saturday, December 22 Burscough are at Winsford United.

Burscough blown out of Macron Cup by leaders

City of Liverpool 6
Burscough 2

BURSCOUGH made a good effort in their Macron Cup tie away to the runaway North West Counties League leaders and the outcome was in doubt until the 80th minute when the hosts took over with three goals in the last 10 minutes to make the game wrongly appear very-one sided.

With four minutes gone COL won a corner on the right, the ball was lifted to past the far post and while the Linnets goalkeeper Max Povey lost the flight of the ball the hosts' Anthony Brown didn't and headed home.

COL were doing well down the right wing and it was from another move down that side that they doubled the lead, the ball being played low into the six-yard box from where goalkeeper and defender both touched the ball before it went into the Linnets net in the 14th minute.

Burscough quickly got themselves back into the match with a goal a minute later. First Chad Whyte had a shot saved then from the cleared ball Burscough attacked again, the ball was fed to Jordan Lorde on the 18- yard line and he turned and lashed a vicious skimming shot into the bottom corner to make it 2-1.

On 24 minutes Tom Peterson went close for COL when his shot on the turn went into the side netting but Burscough were still a serious threat on the counterattack.

In the 28th minute a poor header brought the Linnets more problems, a long-range free-kick was lofted into the Burscough penalty area and was only half headed clear. The ball fell to Jack Hazelhurst some 20 yards out and he hit a first-time left-foot shot inside the post to make it 3-1.

COL had a strong wind behind them and just before half-time, via a long punt up the par, they were in on goal again, Burscough goalkeeper Max Povey made a genuine dive at the striker's feet and the forward went dow. Unfortunately as well as a free kick, the referee waved a red card at Povey, so the Linnets faced 50 minutes down to 10 men.

Despite the personnel handicap Burscough did well after half-time and on 63 minutes they pulled a goal back and were well in the game again. Jamie Clark running down the left and whist still on the run sending an excellent pinpoint cross into the COL penalty area for Whyte to send a well-placed dropping header over the goalkeeper and into the net.

In the last 15 minutes the rain came down in torrents and COL upped their game, culminating in the 80th minute with a goal that finished off Burscough with a looping shot from Luke Denson from the right that ended up in the top corner.

Peterson then rounded the keeper to make it 5-2 and a left-foot shot by Craig Cairns made it six.

The margin flattered COL and just rubbed salt into the Linnets wounds as it had been a gallant against the odds effort made even more difficult by that harsh sending off.
